WOODSWORTH GIVES LABOUR TALK AT HALL

Socialist M.P. Deplores Conditions

BRITISH LABOUR

Thinks Party has Chance to Win Elections

Mr. J. S. Woodsworth, the well-known Labor M.P., gave an engaging though rather startling discourse on Canadian Social Problems to a well disposed gathering of McGill students, that comfortably filled the reading room of the Strathcona Hall yesterday afternoon.

Mr. MacKay, in briefly introducing the speaker, recalled that the last time the gentleman spoke in the Hall the police had "sympathetically drawn a tight cordon around the building. In those days Mr. Woodsworth was just a little unpopular with certain citizens of Montreal.

Mr. Woodsworth first informed his audience that he was a graduate of both Canadian and English universities and had for many years studied class problems among those mainly affected by such, namely, the working peoples.

For the purposes of information he has resided in various communities—in Vancouver, where he worked for a year as a "longshoreman, in Winnipeg and in jail.

He pointed out that in Canada there are two well-defined class orders; one the smaller consisting of the reasonably educated citizens, the other, and by far the larger of the semi-illiterate workers.

Those of the laboring class are with comparatively few exceptions of English and Scottish descent who came, and then people before them, to the new world, thinking that in Canada there existed freedom from the faulty and oppressive labor conditions and regulations of the old. In this, they have been miserably disillusioned. "The industrial concerns of the Dominion," he said, "are every bit as grasping and as selfish as those of the United Kingdom. Consequently the poorer classes believe the other to be openly hostile and indifferent to their struggling efforts for better living conditions.

"It is to be regretted that numerous individuals of moderate means look upon the common laborer as a puzzling specimen of a low animal life. This antagonistic and totally unsubstantial belief tends only to accentuate the differences between the two peoples.

"There is a distinct class consciousness on the part of the worker. He speaks a 'different' language, has different ideals and thoughts and in general is far removed from college men and women, and those persons with whom they mostly mingle. The circumstances in which he has been placed induces him to lead a blind, sorrowfully dull life, devoid of all higher learning, with no chances and almost no hope of betterment.

"The wage scale has dropped noticeably in the past year and nowadays it is nothing, indeed, somewhat commonplace for a Canadian to shelter and semi-educate a large family on the inefficient sum of ninety or a hundred dollars a month.

MEDICAL SOCIETY MEETS ON MONDAY

Dr. A. T. Bazin Will Give Address

Dr. A. T. Bazin, Honorary President of the McGill Medical Undergraduate Society, will deliver an opening address at the first regular meeting of the Society on Monday, October 30th, at 8.15 p.m. The executive have gone to a great deal of trouble to make this opening a success and are looking forward to a large turnout.

In past years the case reports that were brought up for discussion were found to be a little too far advanced and therefore not very interesting to the undergraduates in the lower years. This year, however, the executive is endeavoring to make the meetings more interesting for the newer men in college and for that reason a larger number of men in the junior years of Medicine should avail themselves of the privilege of attending the Medical Society meetings.

The refreshments which will complete the programme for the evening, will be of the usual high order and as a large gathering is expected an ample quantity of everything will be on hand. This is an opportunity which none of the students in Medicine should lose in order to get an insight into the doings of the Medical Society.

SUBSTANTIAL INCREASE IN REGISTRATION

Total Figures Are 3,065

MEDICINE LEADS

Extension Department Expected to be Large

Total registration of more than three thousand students was calculated from incomplete returns tabulated by the registrar's office of McGill University yesterday afternoon. Registrations have officially closed in all faculties and sessional schools except Music. There will be quite a few more registrations, but in the majority of faculties and schools they will have to pay an extra registration fee for inclusion in the register. Moreover, in the figures announced yesterday there is no count of registration in the Extension Department, which only opened last week, nor is any calculation of registration for the extra sessional schools, and short courses which are held at different times throughout the year both at McGill and at Macdonald College. As compared with last year, there is a considerable increase in total. The figures available yesterday were as follows:

IMPORTANT GOVERNORS GATHERING

Dr. Armstrong, New Dean of Medicine

BUILDING PLANS

$350,000 Voted for Pathological Building

Dr. George Eli Armstrong, C.M.G., M.Ch., M.D., B.Sc., LL.D., professor of surgery and clinical surgery at McGill University, was appointed dean of the Faculty of Medicine at yesterday's meeting of the board of governors of the university, held in the board room of the C.P.R. Company, under the chairmanship of E. W. Beatty, K.C., president and chancellor of the university. Dr. Armstrong is appointed under the system put in force two years ago, whereby the dean of the Faculty of Medicine is appointed for one year only, much of the executive duty of the office being vested in a permanent appointment of assistant dean, now held by Dr. J. W. Scane, M.D., assistant professor of pharmacology. Dr. Armstrong's predecessors were Dr. H. S. Birkett, C.B., M.D., LL.D., professor of oto-laryngology, and Dr. F. C. Finley, C.B., M.B., M.D., professor of medicine and clinical medicine.

Dr. Armstrong was born in Leeds, Que. He studied at McGill and in England, Germany, and France. He has been consulting surgeon to the Montreal General, Western, and Protestant Insane Hospitals, chief surgeon of Royal Victoria Hospital, and consulting surgeon to all the Canadian Hospitals in England during the Great War. He has also been president of the Canadian Medical Association, the American Surgical Association, and the American College of Surgeons.

At yesterday's meeting of the board of governors, the appointment of Walter Molson as representative of the Graduates' Society on the board of governors was confirmed by unanimous vote. Major J. C. McDonald and Mr. Molson were re-appointed representatives of the governors on the council of the Graduates' Society.

On recommendations of the finance committee, the general building committee, and the Pathological building committee, the construction of the Pathological building was authorized, and an appropriation of $350,000 was voted from the campaign funds to pay for the construction and equipment. The Royal Victoria Hospital will furnish an additional $100,000 for the same purpose, the total cost being estimated at $450,000. The contract for the main building was awarded to the lowest tenderers, John Quinlan & Co., at the price of $282,000. The contracts covering specifications for the engineering trades will be somewhat delayed owing to alterations of the specifications in some minor respects on the recommendation of the Pathological building committee. The extension of the building will be completed by the end of the year.

ANNUAL BOARD MEETS TUESDAY

Junior Year Members at the Hall

The first meeting of the Annual Board will take place at 5.15 p.m. Tuesday in the lounge of Strathcona Hall. Owing to the amount of work necessary for the compilation and publication of the Annual edited by the junior years of each faculty, it is essential that a start be made immediately. Each junior year in the different faculties, and the Royal Victoria College, should have two elected representatives for the Annual Board. The Editor, Associate Editor, Business Manager, etc., are appointed by the Board at its first meeting. The taking of photographs should commence within a very short time.

The latest issue of "The Varsity" contains a detailed announcement of the plans for "Torontoensis", the annual publication of the university. All pictures must be in by December 1st. Some years ago the McGill Annual Board decreed that portraits must be in by October 25th. It is imperative that every member of the Annual Board attend the initial meeting on Tuesday afternoon at 5.15 o'clock in the Strathcona Hall lounge.

THE ANNUAL.

Elsewhere in this issue appears a notice calling a meeting of the Annual Board for next Tuesday. It is by no means too early to commence preparations for the publication of the Annual by the Junior Year. For the last few years matters have been permitted to drift along in a dilatory fashion, the last weeks of lectures being devoted by the board to fevered activity in an attempt to edit the book before college had dissolved. Organizations around the university were allowed to withhold their write-ups and group photographs till late in February, leaving the compilation and arrangement in a very uncertain state till a late date. In addition to rendering the printing of the Annual a hazardous task, efficient proof-reading being an impossibility in the time remaining before lectures ceased, this system of procrastination works a terrific hardship on the members constituting the board, forcing them to ignore their studies when their concentration is essential.

This session we can only express the hope that conditions will be altered; that the executive responsible will see to it that the heads of the various campus organizations are warned of the necessity of sending in their reviews and photographs in time to avoid the usual rush. The latter might reasonably be expected to be in before Christmas, the penalty for non-compliance being forfeiture of the privilege of appearing in the Annual. A method such as this, if adopted, would improve the Annual, assist in its sale by placing it in the hands of the students early in March, and facilitate greatly the efforts of the Annual Board in their endeavour as a body to publish the Annual, and as individuals to pass their finals.

WE ARE BRITONS.

Thousands of Canadians, among whom, unfortunately, are many university graduates, annually leave the Dominion for lands outside the Empire, principally the United States. According to official figures recently announced by the Federal Government, Canada lost no less than 273,556 citizens from her natural increase during the decade between 1911 and 1921, not counting the myriads of immigrants who forsook the land of their adoption. These figures show the gravity of the situation. Canada's most pressing need to-day is immigration of a desirable type, preferably British, but at the same time, thousands of thorough Canadians are leaving the Empire.

Numbers of McGill graduates have filled, and are filling, notable positions in foreign countries. While they are contributing to the development of these nations, they are sorely needed in the Empire. The need of trained men and women has been time and again stressed by our leaders.

The succession of Andrew Bonar Law to Lloyd George's premiership forcibly reminds one of the part Canada plays in the Empire of to-day. From a humble New Brunswick manse to the exalted position of Prime Minister of Great Britain is the almost unbridgeable gap by this Scottish-Canadian. The Dominions have acquired a new status since the war, and instead of self-governing colonies, are now treated as equal partners with the Motherland in the British Commonwealth of Nations. With this added prestige, come greater responsibilities which McGill students as citizens of the British Empire should not fail to realize. Britain, already bearing so many burdens, and faced with colossal post-war problems needs the help of all Canadians. Especially in the delicate capacity of interpretation between the United States and Great Britain may the bonds of Anglo-Saxon friendship, so essential to world peace, be strengthened.

Rejoicing in our national status, and the countless opportunities awaiting us, we should forever keep in mind that we are Britons, and after completing our university training should endeavour to serve in a land where flies the Union Jack, whether it be on the golden prairies of western Canada, in the rich region of the Rand, in the far-off Antipodes, or on the floor of Westminster.

BE INTERESTED.

There is a marked tendency on the part of a considerable number of students to neglect, and sometimes ignore all college activities save those of an athletic or social nature. When the Students' Society meets, it is not thought worth while to attend, with the result that the gathering may lack a quorum. Distinguished visitors come and go, but the unheeding student pursues his or her college career with eyes and ears closed. Certain energetic students fill the important executive positions, and frequently receive unwarranted criticism, as they are in most cases the only ones who manifest an interest.

Athletic fixtures, notably football games, are usually well-attended, as well as smokers, as was clearly shown by the large and enthusiastic turnout during the first week of college. A few days later, Sir Charles S. Sherrington, President of the Royal Society, a scientist of international reputation, was greeted by an unusually small audience when he addressed the University after receiving the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws at the fall convocation.

Neglect of the more serious aspects of college life injures McGill, as after all the student body makes the University, and if it does not rise to the occasion, the prestige of the institution suffers, as well as the students themselves. Let us take a reasonable interest in the varied activities of McGill.

NOTICES

MEETING IN UNION.

Much trouble has been occasioned by the fact that various organizations have advertised meetings in the Union without making certain of their accommodation. The result has been that two meetings may have been scheduled for the same room at the same time. In future it will be necessary for presidents or secretaries of clubs to make certain of accommodation either by seeing that the application is entered in the book for that purpose at the Hall Porter's desk or by notifying one of the members of the executive of the Union.

RIFLE CLUB.

All arrangements have now been made to shoot in the Intercollegiate competition on October 29th. Unfortunately the regular practice of the Rifle Club was not held last week, owing to bad weather. As several of the members have not had a chance to try out their rifles, and only one sighting shot is allowed in the competition, it has been decided to have a practice shoot to-day. All wishing to avail themselves of this practice will meet at Strathcona Hall at 1 p.m. Markers will be provided by the Club on both days.

All the girls will be glad to hear that the four MacDonald girls, belonging to R.V.C. '23 have accepted an invitation to tea, next Tuesday afternoon, October 31. Tea will be served in the Drawing Room of the R.V.C., and it is hoped that every girl will be present. In addition to being an opportunity to meet the B.H.S. Seniors, this tea offers all the girls the chance to see their R.V.C. classmates, out of lectures.

NOTICE.

Students of the First and Second Years who have not been physically examined this season, and students of higher years who desire to take part in competitive athletics may be examined at Molson Hall at 5 p.m. on Friday, October 27th, and the following Tuesday the 31st October, also at 5 p.m. New students who have not attended to this matter will please note that this will be their last opportunity to comply with the regulation, which states that those who have not been physically examined before November 1st, will not be allowed to attend the University.

MANDOLIN CLUB FORGING ONWARD

May Play at the Allen Shortly

In the very near future McGill students may have the opportunity of hearing their own Mandolin Club at the Allen Theatre. The University Dance Orchestra played at the theatre on the regular "Jazz Nite" last Thursday, and received a wonderful reception from a highly appreciative audience. Another McGill night undoubtedly should prove very popular and attract an exceptional crowd.

Through the aid of the Radio Club, another engagement is being secured to give a concert at one of the broadcasting stations in town. This engagement will be of special interest to the members as it will give them the "inside dope" as to the method of broadcasting, as well as playing to an unseen audience.

Some of the very latest dance music has been obtained and will be given out at the next practice, but in order that further music may be secured and special parts written, it is necessary that all members who have not yet subscribed to the purchase of their respective parts will be prepared to do so next Friday night.

The official picture of the Club for the session 1922-23 will be taken on Tuesday, October 31st, at 7.15, at Notman's Studio, 411 Union, near Morgan's. There are about thirty members of the Club and all are expected to be present and bring their respective instruments (except the pianist). The dress for the picture will be tuxedo with black vest and tie, for those who haven't a "tux" may wear either a dress suit or ordinary dark clothes with the winged collar and black tie. No practice will be held after the taking of the picture.

THANKSGIVING.

The prairie sun is sinking in the west, Another day is drawing to a close; Once more the toil-worn harvesters are blest

With thoughts of one more well-earned night's repose.

The darkening prairie's never-ending line In equal parts divides the golden sphere;

One half beneath the earth has ceased to shine,

The other fingers still to settle here.

The long-drawn shadows stretch across the fields,

And melt away in darkness out of sight;

The ruddy golden sunshine yields, and yields,

And gives away at last to coming night.

Yet still the golden glow lights up the west,

And tints the edge of every cloudlet nigh;

Till soon the changing colors slowly rest And leave the twinkling stars to claim the sky.

And then it is that God's own face looks down,

And sees the harvest fields forlorn and bare;

And all the empty straw stacks turning brown,

And hears His human beings thank'ful prayer.

—K.R., Sc. '26.

members of the executive are asked to be present as it is desired to outline the programme for the coming session as far as possible.

MECHANICAL CLUB.

A trip has been arranged for this afternoon to visit the Canadian Vickers Shipyards. Science men who are not already members should turn out and join the club. Meet at the Union at 2 p.m.

LOST.

Lost in the "Daily" office, or Union basement on Friday night, October 20th, a gold-tipped fountain pen. Finder please leave at the "Daily" office.

NOTICE.

Will the harrier who borrowed a pair of brown tennis shoes last Friday in Molson Hall kindly return them to the Locker Keeper at once.

DISCUSSION GROUPS.

Led by Prof. Gifford, Prof. Reilly, Prof. Best and Mr. Mackay will meet for supper in Strathcona Hall on Monday at 6 o'clock. Former members of these classes and any new men will be gladly received.

BASEBALL REPRESENTATIVES

Baseball representatives of the Freshman and Sophomore Years who have not kept their attendance lists up-to-date for the practices are asked to attend to this immediately following each practice. It will not be possible to grant these attendances unless they are promptly turned in to the Department of Physical Education.

NOTICE.

Students in Medicine thinking of practising in Mexico should note that the examinations for license in that country are required to be written in Spanish.

INFORMAL TEA AT STRATHCONA HALL

First of Series for To-morrow Afternoon

On Sunday afternoon at Strathcona Hall the Ladies' Auxiliary will provide the first of a series of informal teas to be given at intervals during the college year. On this occasion the invitation is given to all newcomers at McGill, men and women, particularly to those of the first year. The idea is to provide an opportunity for students to meet one another socially under conditions that will make the occasion as pleasant as possible. There will be an hour or two of friendly chat and music after the tea, the sort of thing which made the teas so popular last year.

Mrs. Chas. Bieler, Mrs. H. F. Armstrong and Mrs. R.R. Thompson will be the hostesses on this occasion, while several charming personalities from the R.V.C. will assist in making the guests feel at home, as well as in attending to their material needs. Any out-of-town student who is not otherwise engaged on Sunday afternoon at 4.30 will be welcomed by the ladies at the Hall.

EDUCATION POPULAR WITH GERMAN

Technical Schools Especially in Favor

Registration in German universities this year has increased fully 33 per cent. over the pre-war enrolment, the strongest additions being recorded in the political science, commercial and technical courses, according to Prof. John Giesen, of the department of zoology, Marquette University. Professor Giesen returned last week from Germany, where as Marquette's representative he attended the centenary convention of German naturalists and physicians at Leipzig.

"Technical schools with courses in engineering, physics and chemistry have increased their enrolment 400 per cent.," said Professor Giesen, "while the greatest loss has occurred in departments of philology, theology and medicine. These last departments have fallen off one-half."

"Taken as a whole, however, there has been a general rush of students to the universities despite the economic depression existent in the country."

DEMOCRATIC COLLEGE SPIRIT.

One of the greatest changes in the present German universities is in the atmosphere of the schools, according to Mr. Giesen. The students are becoming more democratic in spirit and the universities are growing typically American.

More students are working their way through school at this time than ever before, Professor Giesen said. Conditions of this sort were unknown before the war. The average student is industrious and self-supporting, seriously after an education.

"The number of girl students and women professors has increased materially," said the professor. Women, in some departments, outnumber the men. A large number of them, too, are working their way through school.

INTERESTED IN SPORTS.

"In sports, the universities have shown another change. Formerly the colleges had few if any intercollegiate meets. Now they are quite common and German youths are just as enthusiastic in winning their letters on the football, soccer and track teams as are American students."

"The practice of challenging one's enemy to a duel in order to settle personal difficulties is not as common as it used to be in the old days at the University of Heidelberg. Dueling is strictly forbidden by the faculties of all the universities and indeed not many of the students care for this method of settlement. In the majority of cases the well known American methods are resorted to. "One great drawback to a large enrolment is the cost of textbooks, at the present rate of exchange, one copy of the Zoological Record, published in the States, costs a German student 10,000 marks, equivalent to two weeks wages of an average workingman. The problem of purchasing textbooks is greater than that of meeting tuition payments."

NO ROOM FOR QUITTERS ON MCGILL TEAM

Coach Will Not Stand for Players Missing Practices
R.M.C. vs McGill
Intermediates Oppose Cadets in Return Game This Morning

Coach Frank Shaughnessy had only a handful of senior players out for yesterday's workout at the Stadium; a number of the gridders are taking a forced vacation because of injuries which they are still nursing but there are several men on the squad who since last Saturday's game have been showing some measure of indifference as to attendance at practices. "Shag" made it clear to the squad, in very emphatic terms that he had no room on the team for men who showed such indifference and every man in moleskins will have to show a fighting spirit all the way through in order to hold on to his position for the remaining games with Queen's and Syracuse. "It is no disgrace to be a losing team," the McGill mentor insisted, but "I don't want to see any quitters wearing the Red and White."

The men are being drilled in the American style of play in preparation for the contest with the Syracuse eleven in Archibald Stadium two weeks from today, and perfecting a smoothly working interference occupied the greater part of the afternoon's activities. To practically the whole squad the American rules are absolutely strange, Ambridge and Little being the only ones on the field yesterday who had played against the invading Syracuseans last fall.

The team lined up for a few minutes against the intermediates, who were driven through their final workout prior to the return match with R.M.C. which takes place at Molson Stadium this morning.

The Cadets took the measure of the McGill Seconds in Kingston on Wednesday, sending the Montreal outfit down to a 22-6 defeat. It was the fumbling of the McGill halves which was responsible for the defeat and although the Kingstonians were outplayed in straight football they took advantage of all the breaks and piled up a big lead. On their home grounds the intermediates should be able to give a much better account of themselves and an exciting match may be looked forward to when the two teams clash again.

FOOTBALL PLAY IN TUDOR TIMES

How the Game Went in Good Old 1592

Advocates of football as it used to be played in the good old days of yore are claiming that it was a mild and gentle game as compared to the present system of indulging in the contests. As opposed to their contentions there have been a great number of examples taken from struggles in the years gone by to show that the present code of rules tend towards fewer accidents and cleaner playing. The most interesting citation that has come to light is one that was

MEDS. COME FROM BEHIND TO VICTORY

Close Game is Decided in Last Quarter
SCORE 7-6
Darkness Comes to Aid of Meds. in the Final Frame

The Commerce rugby team met its third successive defeat when the Meds. triumphed over them last night. The score, 7 to 6, showed the closeness of the game. The largest crowd that has yet turned out was on hand to cheer their teams.

The weather conditions were ideal but early darkness caused many fumbles toward the end of the game and was responsible to a large extent for the Meds.' touchdown.

Both teams were very evenly matched and in the first half the play surged back and forth with little advantage to either side. The Meds. notched the first counter when Kendrick, for Commerce, fell on the ball behind his own goal line. The period ended with no further points being scored.

Commerce scored the first touchdown early in the second half when Taprell fell on a fumbled ball. Another point was added when Cassels converted. Score at end of third quarter was 6-1 for Commerce.

The last quarter was played in semi-darkness. The Commerce team had resorted to a kicking game and after an exchange Meds. held the ball on the Commerce forty-five yard line. The right end on the Commerce team thought he was over the touch line when he was still about four yards from it. When he went over to the left side the Meds. sent a run around that end for a touchdown which was not converted. Just before the final whistle Davis was roused for the winning point.

Cassels, Davis and Kendrick were the best for Commerce, while "Uncle" Munn played a strong offensive game through the line. For the Meds. Chisholm and Boyle showed up well, while Lynch played a steady game at quarter. The final score was Meds., 7; Commerce, 6.

"As concerning football playing, it may be called rather a friendly fight than a play or recreation; a bloody, murdering practice than a fellowly sport or pastime. For doth not everyone lie in wait for his adversary, seeking to overthrow him and to pitch him on his nose, though it be upon hard stones . . . or what place soever it be he careth not, so he have him down. And he that can serve the most in this fashion, he is counted the only fellow, and who but he."

R.V.C. WILL HOLD SPORTS AT STADIUM

Eliminations Were Held on Thursday
KEEN COMPETITION
About 50 Girls Still Remaining in the Contest

After much preparation and diligent practice the R.V.C.A.A. are prepared to offer an excellent programme of various field and track events which will take place this afternoon at two o'clock. The sports this year will be held at the Molson Stadium instead of at the rear of the R.V.C., to which place they were confined in previous years. This is an unprecedented event in the existence of the R.V.C.A.A. and as it affords a splendid opportunity for the competitors to display their ability to unequalled advantage it is expected that a large number of spectators will be present.

The events are under the supervision of capable officials. The position of referee will be held by Miss Cartwright, the director of the M.S.P.E. The starter will be Miss G. MacCallum and the Clerks of the Course will consist of Miss Wain (chief), Miss Rexford, G. Lehan, E. Little, D. Fee, P. Powell. Students of the M.S.P.E. will act as linesmen, judges, announcers, scorers, etc.

The programme will consist of the following items with their respective competitors:

1. 50 yard dash—M. Leggett, E. Shlakman, E. Herzberg, M. Pick, R. Turley.
2. Running high jump—D. Russell, W. Spier, W. Percival, E. Hutcheson, R. Dunton, R. Turley.
3. Javelin throw—E. Basken, L. Desbarats, M. Dougall, M. McLaren, C. Morton, P. Murray, S. Slack, F. Stocking, E. Dunton, M. Mack.
4. Broad jump—L. Kerr, A. Carter, C. Robertson, M. McWatters, E. Hutcheson, D. Russell, R. Dunton, W. Spier, W. Percival, E. Dunton.

Among the schools which are not included in the above total is the Extension Department, which last year had a registration of nearly one thousand and which this year is expected to have a larger number; as well as the French Summer School, Library School, School for Rural Improvement, School of Public School Drawing, and the short courses in Agriculture, Household Science, and Education.

RUGGER FIXTURE THIS AFTERNOON

McGill Plays Montreal English on Old Campus

For today's English Rugby game at 3.00, both McGill and the Montreal Clubs intend to field their strongest teams, and a fast, interesting game is promised. The McGill squad has had large turnouts for its practices during the last few weeks, and have experienced little difficulty in selecting a keen, well-balanced team. There are several of last year's fifteen to be seen in uniform again this season, besides many new men who are skilled in the game.

As this is McGill's first match it is difficult to pick the winners, but the prospects are that the victory will go to the side possessing the best combination and the fastest three-quarter line. The forward packs are supposed to be evenly matched and neither is expected to show much supremacy over the other.

Considerable interest has been aroused over the clash and both teams should have a large crowd of supporters on hand. Providing that the weather is suitable and the ground in fair condition, one of the finest exhibits of the English game ever seen in Montreal should result.

The winners of today's game will play the winners in the Maritime Section here next Saturday. The game taking place with the Allan Arless Memorial match in the morning in order not to conflict in the afternoon.

The McGill line-up is as follows:
Full back—A. N. McLeod.
Three quarters—H. Marpole, H. C. Cooper, F. McNamee, O. McDonald.
Halves—J. R. Cooper, H. S. Holman.
Forwards—G. Wilson, A. Walter, K. Patterson, H. Cleland, T. Brown, McLeod, Taylor, O'Brien.
Reserves—McAvity, Wise, Lochard, Whitmore.

WOODSWORTH GIVES LABOR TALK AT HALL

It is even likely that in the near future he will be compelled to satisfy family needs with a more pitiful amount." To be brief, in the words of the Federal member, "the worker in Canada is merely a slave." Another evil which is greatly lowering the laborer's lot is the recent increase in mechanical appliances.

Mr. Woodsworth claimed that the Canadian worker was most dissatisfied and contemplated forceful improvements in his life. Here, he quoted a few words from an address of Miss Wrong, the travelling secretary of the S.C.A.A., concerning the parallel conditions of the European workers. "How long are the nurses in Europe going to be contented to starve peacefully?" Mr. Woodsworth claimed that the Canadian working class was asking itself the same question.

He felt sure that a complete reverse in the social order is wanted by the majority of Canadians, indeed he asserted ninety-five per cent. of the nation are striving for such a reverse, and that such a new system would come about shortly, perhaps by force. Further, he said, it was his opinion that the American continent would experience within four or five years a taste of those rough but stimulating activities which go to make present-day Russian life.

He deplored the fact that students took absolutely no interest in the affairs of the hour that are of paramount importance to the nation's very existence, for momentous changes were daily before apparent throughout the world.

In passing, Mr. Woodsworth stated that the British Labor Party stood fair chances of becoming the government through the medium of the impending elections in Great Britain.

At the close of his address Mr. Woodsworth was unstintingly applauded by his student audience, which for more than three-quarters of an hour had rendered him its keenest attention.

Many questions were submitted, all of which Mr. Woodsworth found no trouble in suitably answering.

Small pamphlets were then sold, disclosing from the labor council's viewpoint, the inside story of the Winnipeg strike.

QUEENS AND VARSITY IN BIG CONTEST

Clash in Toronto This Afternoon
VARSITY FAVORITES
Teams Evenly Matched in Backfield but Varsity has Strong Line

The outcome of today's football game between Varsity and Queen's in Toronto will have a great bearing on the final standing in the league. The teams are very evenly matched and the contest is attracting considerable attention in the Queen City.

The Presbyterians boast of the strongest team in the history of the institution and it is doubtful if a better combination ever represented the Blue and White than this year's twelve. The tricolor admirers are very confident and great optimism also pervades Jack Maynard's camp, so that a merry tussle is assured.

On the half line there is little to choose between the two. Batstone, Leadley and Harding represent Queen's, while Snyder, Duncan and Somerville will oppose them. If there is any advantage it lies with the Blue and White. The Queen's back field is composed of brilliant open field runners, but the Toronto backs are equally good in a broken field and are certainly more consistent line plungers. On the punting end the teams are about evenly matched. At quarter-back, Hobbs stands out as a more valuable man than Evans; he is a clever field general, a good punter and a consistent ground flyer. Bartlett and Campbell, at flying wing, are of about the same calibre.

Both teams are strong on the outside wings. Rolph and Prendergast for Varsity, and "Bud" Thomas and Walker for Queen's, should give a good exhibition of going down under punts; all of them are deadly tacklers.

But on the line, Toronto should have a big advantage. The Queen's forwards are only fair, while Varsity has an exceptionally strong aggregation of wings. The Blue and White should experience little difficulty in outplaying their rivals on the line.

As in most cases where the teams are evenly matched the breaks of the game should have a strong bearing on the result. But barring any unusual breaks it is the opinion of most football followers around Montreal that the University of Toronto will be on the long end of the score.

ARTS SENIORS WON BASEBALL

Defeated Science Freshmen 27 to 6

In the High School gym. last evening the Arts seniors took the Science Freshmen into camp to the tune of 27 to 6 in a rather one-sided baseball game. The game was rather too much of a runaway to be interesting, although some good plays were made by both teams. Amaron, for Arts, pitched good ball, being consistent throughout. The Science pitcher did not receive the support that he should have had and as a result he had to do most of the work himself.

The fielding of the Arts team was good but the Freshmen have a lot to polish up in this line, the ball being booted more times than it was fielded by them. However, with a little practice there is no doubt that they will be able to give almost any team in the league a good run for it.

The line-up was as follows:
Arts '23—Craik, Allen, Woodhouse, McGerrigle, Reid, Puddicombe, Anderson, Amaron, Cowan.
Science '26—Allison, Tatley, Upton, Costigan, Bremner, Michaud, Fellowes, Rinfret.

The score by innings:
Arts '23572571—27
Science '26301002— 6
Umpires—Bronson and McCullough.

The next game in the inter-class series is between Med. '27 and Arts '24 on Monday evening at six o'clock in the High School gym.

All men who are taking part in the games are again reminded that they must be physically examined before playing in any game. The fact that a man has been examined last year does not count for anything the examination must have taken place this fall. In the event of a man playing who has not complied with these regulations the game will be forfeited by his team and he will be suspended from athletics for the duration of the college session. Class representatives are asked to see that their men have all been examined before the scheduled date of their game.

SHINE JUST WHERE YOU ARE

Don't waste your time in longing
For bright, impossible things;
Don't sit supinely yearning
For the swiftmess of the wings;
Don't spurn to be a rush light,
Because you are not a star,
But brighten some bit of darkness
By shining just where you are.
There is need of the tiniest candle,
As well as the garish sun;
The humblest deed is ennobled
When it is worthily done;
You may never be called to brighten
The darkest regions afar,
So, fill for the day your mission,
By shining just where you are.

LAST YEAR CHAMPIONS WILL APPEAR

Basketball Team Will Soon Start Practice

NEEDS MATERIAL

Will Play American Aggregations in Winter Fixtures

The basketball season at McGill is about to open. Although many of the members of last year's team are at present playing football, the practice for new men in all probability will start on a week from Monday. There is every chance of last year's plans being again followed by the basketball club. There will be two Junior and two intermediate teams and there is hope that enough men will be out to make it possible to have a pair of senior teams; one for the intercollegiate games and the other for the city league.

This year a trip is to be taken by a team to the states. The executive of the club is still working on the plans for the trip but games with several colleges have already been arranged. These games will in no way interfere with the usual series held between the Canadian universities or the city league plans. The games arranged up to date are with the Crescent A.A. in New York on December 30, St. Francis, College, Brooklyn on December 29th, and the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia on the first of January. It is hoped that games can be obtained from other colleges and the return trip made by way of Buffalo and Rochester. There is also a game to take place on an open date in the intercollegiate series with Clarkson College in Potsdam, New York, and it is rumored that the powerful Dartmouth team may be opposed sometime during the season. This offers a great deal of work to the men who will play on the team but there is every hope that they will be able to clean up many victories after the splendid exhibition they staged last year. The team is badly weakened by the loss of Laishley and Livshin but there are many new men who might fill the vacancies. Crain the president of the club is handling the arrangements for the year and expects a large turnout. The practice times will be published during the next week in the "Daily" and there will probably be a meeting of the men interested in the game next week.

The intermediates will proceed as last year but with more chance of stronger teams. Last year these two teams staged many good games and although they did not take honours many men were developed who will appear this year in senior company. It is of interest to note that every man in the past two years who has gone out for basketball and not quit at the start of the season has had more than one opportunity to play for the college in some of the games. The Junior teams last year were at times hard up for men although over one hundred started the year.

It is expected that Coach Van Wagner will handle the four Intermediates and Junior teams during the season and this affords men a splendid opportunity to learn the game as it should be played. In the past these teams have sent many men to senior ranks during the year.

Next week will see the plans for the inter-class basketball league completed. It is not known if the "sudden death" plan is to be followed but the executive of the club advise class teams to star practice as soon as possible if they hope to score in the series. Last year many good teams were defeated through lack of a few days practice, and because of the number of men entered into the series it was necessary to make one loss throw a team out of the winning.

The city association will hold its meeting next week with the teams entered will be made known and the schedule arranged. This will start the ball rolling and basket tossers will soon be in action.

Last year the senior team won several honours. They defeated Queen's and Toronto and also clinched the senior city league championship which was a good winter's work. George Fox, last year's coach and probable man for this year was in a large measure responsible for the wins. He sent a team of men onto the floor who played combination basketball during the entire game and did not star individually. They defeated their opponents by narrow margins but even when the game was in most danger the men passed the ball playing rings around the opposition. What sort of play will be introduced this year is not known. Laishley will be a big loss on the forward line. He was a consistent scorer and played a remarkable all around game. Crain, Manson, Mendlesohn, Little, and Hay, are back this year and will be out for the team. They will have to work to hold their positions from some of the new men at the game who show pos-

ELECTRICAL CLUB ELECT OFFICERS

Will Visit City Power Plants Later

The annual meeting of the Electrical Club was held yesterday afternoon at which Mr. Wallace, of the Applied Science staff, presided. The six council members from the Fourth Year were elected, resulting in the appointment of Rochester, Dickinson, Kezar, Craik, Armstrong and Foster. They, in turn, elected the executive, which is as follows: Kezar, President; F. S. Howes, Third Year, Secretary; S. M. Finlayson, Third Year, Treasurer. An extensive programme is being formulated for the year's activity, which includes several trips to city power plants. A trip to Ottawa is under consideration.

cavation work has already been completed.

The Pathological building as planned will be a handsome structure of unusual type. It will be erected at the corner of Pine avenue and University street in what is known as Macdonald Park, between the field house of the Molson Stadium and the east wing of Royal Victoria Hospital. It will be four storeys in height and of irregular shape, not unlike an "L". Provision is made for future extension. Tunnels connect the building with the hospital and with the Medical building. Nobbs & Hyde are architects, Traquair & Carless, associate architects, Stevens & Lee, consulting architects, and McDougall, Pease & Friedman, consulting engineers.

At the request of Vice-Principal Adams, Dr. J. Austen Bancroft, Ph.D., Dawson professor of geology, was appointed on the new Geology-Mining building committee in his stead.

Notice of motion was accepted of a proposed amendment to the statutes covering the constitution of the Faculty of Arts. This amendment provided that "the membership of the Faculty of Arts shall be composed of the principal of the university the dean of the faculty, the warden of Royal Victoria College, and any person in charge of a department, giving actual instruction on its teaching staff, subject to one limitation". This limitation is that the head of every department giving instruction in the Faculty of Arts will be a member of the faculty, but no other member of that department will be a member of more than one faculty. Provision is also made for inclusion of officers of instruction below the rank of associate professor on the majority vote of the faculty. This amendments will increase the size of the faculty, which at present consists of 21 professors. The matter has been discussed for some time past, a resolution being adopted at the last faculty meeting on a notice of motion given last April.

R.V.C. '23 TO GIVE TEA TO B.H.S. GIRLS

R. V. C. '23 is much pleased that their invitation to the girls of the class who are taking the B.H.S. course at Macdonald has been accepted. The tea has been arranged to take place next Tuesday afternoon, October 31st, in the drawing-room of the R.V.C. The Montreal girls, being hostesses, should all make an effort to be at this class party and make it as jolly an entertainment as possible.

When R.V.C. '23 was in its freshman year, everyone had to take the prescribed courses and in this way got to know everyone else. But the girls who have joined the class in its second, third or fourth year have not had so many opportunities of meeting their class-mates while some of those at Macdonald are quite strangers to those at R.V.C.

This will be the first class party that R.V.C. '23 has ever given and it will certainly be a wonderful tea.

INDIAN STUDENT SPOKE ON LEAGUE

American Undergraduates Listened With Interest to M. Mahmood.

The students of Tufts College were fortunate in having had an opportunity to hear a short address by M. Mahmood, noted Indian student and Oxford graduate of the class of 1922, who was introduced by Prof. Arthur I. Andrews in behalf of the Cosmos Society.

M. Mahmood's topic was "America and the League of Nations: Co-operation, Not Entry," and he presented his case with such convincing earnestness and sincerity, backed by a splendid personality, that the large audience rendered thunderous appreciation.

The speaker began by admitting the imperfections of the present league, but requested that it be considered from the standpoint of work done in the past and from what can be made of it in the future. He pointed out that four-fifths of the world's population, occupying three-fourths of its total area and representing fifty-one nations are at present supporting the league. He next outlined the accomplishments of the congress to date, answering the question of what the league has done and adding, "Most assuredly the League of Nations is not a model institution to-day. To those who expected the millennium, it has been a disappointment, but we must realize that a perfect institution cannot be created and improved in one day, and it is altogether true that the League is working gradually toward an ultimate cure of its present faults."

"For years Americans have longed and agitated for an international court of justice, and now that they have the opportunity to be represented in one, particularly such a court as the one designed by Elihu Root and Woodrow Wilson, themselves American statesmen, it is a great misfortune that political juggling should deprive them of the very thing which they have so long desired."

Speaking further along affirmative lines, M. Mahmood enumerated the main arguments of the pro-league party: first, that it is not necessarily an entangling alliance; and second, it is in perfect accord with American ideals and traditions. He has classified the opponents of the league into two main categories, the Immovables, and the Movables. The former are the misguided individuals who still hold for the policy of isolation, "the Rip Van Winkles of Politics who are a century and a quarter behind the times. It is no longer possible for any one nation to stand alone. The great World War showed you conclusively that, although you may have no interest in European struggles, you can not keep out of them."

The latter group includes those who say the league is "dead" or "weak," an argument that has no strength in the face of the work already done and the promise that it holds. Besides these, there are the people who disapprove of the constitution of the assembly, saying that the league has not compelled any of its members to individual retraction. This objection is utterly inconsistent with the objection which this same group raised three years ago, when they said that our entrance would deprive us of the right to dictate our own national policy.

The speaker closed by calling attention to the deplorable state of the world to-day, and expressed faith in the people to eventually see the way to a better day.

MEETING OF R.V.C. UNDERGRAD SOCIETY

A meeting of the R.V.C. Undergraduate Society was held yesterday at which a number of important questions were brought up.

As many will remember, at the close of last year's session a committee was formed consisting of the retiring president, Miss Birkett, the president-elect, Miss Kerr, and Miss Slack, to inquire into the possibility of the formation of a society which would include all women students studying at McGill. At yesterday's meeting Miss Slack read the report of the committee and it was decided that a meeting should be held consisting of the committee and representatives from all faculties and departments in which women are studying, to discuss this project.

Miss Kerr announced to the meeting that it had been proposed by some members of the society that a Musical Club should be formed, composed of any women students who might be interested in this subject. This scheme, however, will probably be brought to the fore later on.

The discussion then arose whether the Dansants should be held by the R.V.C. this season. Owing to the lack of support last year only two of the four teas were real successes, however it was decided that one tea should be given as a trial and the proceeds be given to the C.A. in answer to their request.

The motion passed at the meeting of the Delta Sigma Society on Thursday, October 26th, that an intercollegiate debate be held with the women students of Queen's University was raised.

"Good Books"

Man has ever sought articulation. The nomadic band as it wandered about the desert, stopped, heaped together a pile of stones and moved on. Today we read in these dumb stones the story of wandering, rest, and again of wandering. The race was in its infancy. We still have with us the aesthete, who carves in some conspicuous place his obscure initials. The individual is in his infancy.

But progressive man moved on. In time the heavens were represented by a star, an animal by a mound and man by his profile. The Indians were satisfied with this pictography. Certain individuals are satisfied today by pictographs on the surface of some unoffending desk or other equally inappropriate place.

Again the race moved on. In time syllables were represented by hieroglyphics and from the syllab to last emerged the alphabet. And so the individual moves on. His mind craves for knowledge as his body for food. Oftentimes the progress is slow, sometimes instead of growing, he merely wanders.

As the aim of nature is the improvement of the race, so the aim of the university is manifestly the improvement of the individual. One main factor is the influence of books. What confusion there is for the young student as he gazes for the first time on rows upon rows of books. How is he to correlate the little knowledge he has about books? It would be as easy to describe the color of a patchwork quilt as to understand his conception of a library. This is the time for professors to guide students in their reading.

"There are," says Ruskin, "good books of the hour and good books for all time; bad books of the hour and bad books for all time. The good book of the hour: I do not speak of the bad ones—is simply the useful or pleasant talk of some person whom we cannot converse with, printed for you; telling you what you need to know, very pleasant often, as a present friend's sensible talk would be. We ought to be entirely thankful for them, and entirely ashamed of ourselves if we made no good use of them."

These books could be read aloud. As Sir John Herschel says: "What a source of domestic enjoyment is laid open, what a bond of family union. . . . All contribute to the gratification of the rest, and a feeling of common interest and pleasure is excited. Nothing unites enjoyment. It does more, it gives them mutual respect that corner-stone of all virtue."

The accusation is often made that doctors are the most single-minded of all professional men. Let us bring one factor—good books—into their lives.

"Then," says Ruskin, "you place him in contact with the best society of every period of history—with the wisest, the wittiest, the tenderest and the bravest, and the purest characters who have adorned humanity. You make him a denizen of all nations, a contemporary of all ages. The world has been created for him." Such a heritage!

"Every good book," says Milton, "is the precious life blood of master spirits embalmed and treasured up on purpose to a life beyond life." It is scarcely possible for any one to hold communion with such a clan of thinkers without being the better for it. "Those who have once experienced the enjoyment of such works," says Herschel, "will not easily abstain from intellectual reading and will not willingly descend to an inferior grade of intellectual privilege" you will find good books.

A great treasure house of wit and sense, Virtue and human knowledge.

All that might make this dull world a business of delight.

There is a notable instance of the power of a single book. "The Social Contract," by Jean Jacques Rousseau. "Man is born free, yet everywhere he is in chains," resounded from one part of France to the other. The book aroused the French people and the book overwhelmed them.

It is not sufficient for a doctor to carry only the information necessary for a medical degree. His patients must have confidence in him, and says Thackeray, "It is not only for the sick man, it is for the sick man's friends that the doctor comes." His presence is often as good for them as for the patient. . . . How we hang upon his words and what a comfort we get from a smile or two if he can vouchsafe that sunshine to brighten our darkness. . . . The doctor stands as if he were fate, the dispenser of life and death."

KNOWLEDGE.

When a fellow knows his business he doesn't have to explain that he does. It isn't what a man knows, but what he thinks he knows he brags about. Big talk means little knowledge.—George Horace Lorimer.
